

Indigenous Chronic Disease Clinic

Living with a chronic condition requires a range of treatments to support you to live the life you want to live. The Bathurst Indigenous Chronic Disease (ICD) Clinic allows you to access the support you need, all under the one roof.

Our team of healthcare professionals and specialists provide a range of free treatments to support management of your chronic condition, and coordinate appointments and social activities to connect with your community.

The clinic operates from 10am-4pm every Thursday at our Bathurst office at 102 Keppel Street.

Services offered

- Diabetes education (fortnightly)
- Dietetics (fortnightly)
- Endocrinology (monthly)
- Exercise physiology (weekly)
- Podiatry (fortnightly)

Eligibility

To be eligible for these free services clients must identify as Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander with a diagnosed chronic health condition.

Non-indigenous clients who experience barriers to accessing support for chronic health conditions may be eligible, however eligibility will be determined on a case by case basis.

How to refer

- Diabetes education and dietetics – please provide a written GP referral including recent pathology results
- Endocrinology services – please provide a written GP referral including recent pathology services
- Podiatry services – please provide a written GP referral and EPC referral (if client has GPMP or HA in place)
- Exercise physiology – please provide a written referral confirming the client is medically fit to participate in physical activity and does not have any active wounds
